5 Nations Sign Defense Treaty

By The Associated Press

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM, March 17—A five-power treaty starting a 50-year western European union to defend democracy was signed here today.

The historic military, political and economic alliance was signed by the foreign ministers of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The signing, at 5:04 p. m. (11:04 a. m., Marion time), took place in the Solemn Sessions Hall of the Brussels Palace of Academies.

The treaty pledges the five nations to mutual military aid if any one of them is attacked. The treaty was completed here Friday.

The terms of alliance, embracing economic as well as military cooperation, were made public in the capitals of the five nations as their foreign ministers formally signed the pact in Brussels.

The 50-year treaty, forged last week in an atmosphere darkened by the westward advance of communism, called for quick action to put its objectives of common security and economic recovery into operation. The treaty made partners of the five nations.

The treaty ordered formation of a "consultative council" to operate on a continuing basis.

The council is to meet immediately "to consult with regard to any situation which might constitute a threat to peace * * *."

The treaty's fourth article was the crux of the agreement. It said:

"If any of the high contracting parties should be the object of an armed attack in Europe, the other high contracting powers will, in accordance with provisions of Article 51 of the charter of the United Nations, afford the party so attacked all the military and other aid and assistance in their power."

Russia Not Mentioned

The five powers did not mention Russia by name.

The text did specify that the consultative council would determine "steps to be taken in case of a renewal by Germany of any aggressive policy."

Significantly, the treaty added: "Or with regard to any situation constituting a danger to economic stability."

In seven points of the prelude to the treaty, the five western democracies pledged themselves to work together "in maintaining international peace and security and in resisting any policy of aggression."

The treaty left the door ajar for additions to the alliance. It said the five countries "may, by agreement, invite any other state" to agree to its terms.

Under the plan, any such country invited could become a party to the agreement by depositing its acceptance with the Belgian government.

The countries formally declared their "close community of interests" and expressed their belief in the "necessity of united in order to promote the economic recovery of Europe."

The treaty promised to "organize and coordinate their economic activities to produce the best possible results by the elimination of conflict in their economic policies, the coordination of production and the development of commercial exchanges."

Cite Common Aims

Obviously bearing in mind cooperation with the other 11 nations and western Germany under the European recovery program, the accord said the common aims "shall not involve any duplication of, or prejudice to, work of other economic organizations" of which they are members. On the contrary, the treaty said the alliance would assist such organizations.

This was in line with British

MARION PLANT WILL ENLARGE

Metal Products Co. To Start Work April 15 on Factory Addition.

It was announced today that the Marion Metal Products Co. has closed a contract for the erection of a new factory building at its Cheney avenue plant here. The proposed building will be not less than 100 feet wide and 200 feet long and will be adjacent on the east side to the north part of its present factory production building on Cheney avenue. When completed it will be used as a machine shop and the present machine shop located at the extreme north end of the building will be moved into the new addition. The north end of the factory now used as a machine shop will become a shipping room and storage room for finished products.

Construction work is expected to start about April 15 and it is hoped it will be completed by Sept. 1.

The present Cheney avenue plant was acquired from the Defiance Pressed Steel Co. in 1944, since which time the Marion Metal Products Co. has operated it and its original factory located on Monroe street in this city.

Officers of the company are J. M. Strelitz president and general counsel; G. E. Herr, vice president and general manager; R. J. Graham, treasurer, and J. L. Halberstein, secretary and attorney. Directors include the officers and E. C. Dee, L. E. Oberlander and Robert E. Craven.

ST. PATRICK GIVEN TRIBUTE IN CITY

Parochial School Banquet Is Only Formal Observance.

Irish songs, shamrocks, pipes and bits of green are being heard and seen today as folks of Irish descent are joined by neighbors and friends in paying tribute to St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland.

While no special celebration has been planned the day will be highlighted with a St. Patrick's banquet honoring the football and basketball teams of St. Mary Parochial High school this evening at 6:30 o'clock at Hotel Harding. At this time the letters will be presented the players and the banquet will be followed by dancing and cards. At St. Mary parochial school the various classrooms held programs in honor of the day.

A native of Kilpatrick, Scotland, St. Patrick belonged to a Celto-Roman family of high rank and at the age of 16 was captured by Irish marauders and sold into slavery. After six years of captivity he escaped, and devoted his life thereafter to missionary work. He chose the shamrock to explain by its triple leaf and single stem the doctrine of the Blessed Trinity. He lived from the year 387 to 493.

Meat Packing Strike Before Truman Board; Mine Walkout Grows

Fact-Finding Board Meeting Set Today

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 17—The day-old strike of 100,000 CIO Meat Packing Workers came under the official scrutiny of a presidential fact-finding board today.

President Truman, whose earlier pleas to delay the walkout were rejected by union officials, named the board yesterday. It was the first procedure under the Taft-Hartley labor act designed to end strikes that imperil the nation's health and safety.

The meat strike, which halved the nation's meat production, may provide a major test of the new labor law.

The three-man board planned its first meeting in Chicago today to begin investigating the wage dispute which led to the work stoppage in about 140 of the nation's major and independent packing plants.

The striking union, CIO United Packing House Workers of America, promised President Truman "every possible cooperation" with the fact-finding board. Similar cooperation was promised by one of the major packing companies.

Can Ask Injunction

The board named under a provision of the Taft-Hartley act, has until April 1 to make a written report covering the facts of the dispute to Mr. Truman. It will not make recommendations but after the board reports the President can ask the attorney general to seek an injunction to end the strike.

An injunction, if obeyed, would have the effect of ending the strike for at least 80 days. After a second study of the dispute by the fact-finding board the national labor relations board would take a secret ballot among strikers in connection with the employers' last settlement offer.

The NLRB would certify the results to the attorney general, who would ask for release of the injunction. If the dispute remained unsettled the President could refer it to congress.

Members of the board are Nathan P. Feinsinger, professor of law at the University of Wisconsin; Pearse Davis, chairman of the department of business and economics at the Illinois Institute of Technology, and Walter V. Schaefer, professor of law at Northwestern university.

Wholesale Prices Rise

Supplies of meat animals to market were cut sharply and prices on the wholesale market were higher. Industry spokesmen said prices probably will continue to rise as fresh meat at the retail stores dwindles.

The full effects of the strike were not expected to be felt by consumers for about 10 days or two weeks. The present supply of meat in warehouses is sufficient to meet the nation's average need for three weeks.

Congress Group Demands Mine Pension Account

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—The house-senate labor committee today demanded from John L. Lewis and soft coal operators an explanation within 48 hours of the pension dispute which has closed most of the nation's soft coal mines.

The committee heretofore has refrained from interfering in current labor disputes. But Chairman Joseph H. Ball, (R) of Minnesota, said the group now wanted to be kept fully informed on facts leading to the dispute and future developments.

The committee called for an explanation as government officials saw little hope of an early end to the soft coal strike which began Monday.

Industry Considers Production Cut

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 17—With eight of every ten soft coal miners idle, steel industry leaders today pondered how soon to begin slashing production to save fuel.

The work stoppage was three days old. More than 339,000 United Mine Workers had left the pits to support John L. Lewis' demand for $100 monthly miners' pensions. Other thousands were expected to quit work today.

Steelmen dodged questions about how long they can keep going if the walkout continues. They are in a quandary. Most of them could keep going full-blast through a short work stoppage. If it is a long-drawn-out affair, like the 59-day strike of 1946, most could save money by cutting back now.

The miners have said they won't go back until a pension plan is drawn. An injunction might get them back though they obeyed a 1946 court order only after Lewis told them to.

Other industries were just beginning to feel the effects of the walkout. Notices were posted at the big Huntington, W. Va., shops of the coal-carrying Chesapeake and Ohio railroad saying the shops will close Saturday. A railroad spokesman said yards at Russell, Ky., also would be affected. About 2,000 are employed at the two places.

Warning Issued By Steel Institute

By International News Service

NEW YORK, March 17—The American Iron and Steel Institue warned today that the nation's steel industry may have to cut back production within the next few days because of the crippling bituminous coal strike.

Industrialists meanwhile predicted large scale unemployment in steel, automobile, household appliance, construction and other steel dependent industries if the coal strike continues for ten days.

A spokesman for the institute said that coal stockpiles at steel mills probably are the lowest in history and many have only sufficient reserves to operate at capacity for from four days to two weeks.

REPORT U.S. SAVED EUROPE

Marshall Plan Agents Cite Aid as Having Staved Off Collapse.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, March 17—Short term aid from the United States prevented serious collapse in Europe, representatives of the 16 Marshall Plan nations said today.

The interim aid, they said in an official report, enabled stricken countries to pull through. The report added: "This aid was designed with limited objectives and could not modify the situation as a whole."

The French version of the report used the word "brutal" to describe the threatened collapse. The official English translation changed the word to "serious." One high American official here named France, Austria and Italy as nations rescued by more than $500,000,000 spent in interim aid.

Need of External Help

He added that if these three countries had gone under there would have been no reason to spend the $5,300,000,000 now planned as the first year's expense in saving the economic lives of 250,000,000 Europeans under the Marshall Plan.

The report said recent developments confirmed forecasts of both the American government and the Committee of European Economic Cooperation (CEEC) and demonstrated that without external aid the economic situation of the European continent would continue to deteriorate.

The report, approved at yesterday's final session of the Big 16, was prepared by Claude Bouchinet-Serreules. He is an official of the French foreign ministry and

AGREE ON IMMEDIATE AIR FORCE EXPANSION

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—The nation's defense chiefs were agreed today on a plan for immediate expansion of the Air Forces and congress appeared ready to back it up with money.

Informed sources said the joint chiefs of staff have approved a blueprint that would bring America's air power close to the 20,500-plane strength recommended by the President's air policy commission.

At the same time, house Republican leaders pledged themselves to appropriate enough money to provide the armed forces with "absolutely everything needed" for the national security. They said they would urge the house to approve the full $11,000,000,000 budget asked by President Truman, plus an additional sum for Air Forces expansion under an agreement reached at the recent Key West, Fla., conference of military leaders, it was said. The Air Forces would be almost doubled in plane potential and the Navy's air arm would be vastly improved.

The joint chiefs agreed that the present air force is inadequate in the face of the increasingly serious world situation. It consists of 240,000 officers and men—40,000 under its present authorized strength and is equipped with 10,000 planes, including about 900 heavy bombers and 2,500 fighters.

Urges Full Aid To Five-Nation Anti-Red Pact

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—President Truman told congress today the situation in Europe is "critical" and asked a temporary draft law and universal military training.

The President also urged swift congressional action on the Marshall program of economic help for Europe.

Mr. Truman went before a joint session of congress in person to present a grim picture of world affairs and a major report on his foreign policy.

"The recent developments in Europe," he said, "present this nation with the fundamental issues of vital importance.

Urges Support of Five-Nation Pact

He pointed then to the just-completed five-nation western European pact for common defense against attack.

He said of it:

"This development deserves our full support. I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires.

"I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them to do so."

Then, plainly speaking of Russia, Mr. Truman said:

"The situation in the world today is not primarily the result of the natural difficulties which follow a great war. It is chiefly due to the fact that one nation has not only refused to cooperate in the establishment of a just and honorable peace, but—even worse—has actively sought to prevent it."

The European pact Mr. Truman mentioned was announced officially less than an hour before he spoke. In it, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg pledged each other military aid if one should be attacked.

The 50-year treaty sets up a "consultative council" to meet immediately "to consult with regard to any situation which might constitute a threat to peace."

The treaty leaves the way open for other nations to join. It says the five countries "may, by agreement, invite any other state" to agree to its terms.

Calls It Time for Action

Mr. Truman told congress there are times when it is "far wiser to act than hesitate—"even though action always involves risk.

He said his recommendations at this time for action represent "the most urgent steps towards securing the peace and preventing the war."

The President stressed that the United States will continue to support the United Nations and will try every possible method of reaching international accord.

He went on: "At the same time, we must not be confused about the central issue which confronts the world today.

"The time has come when the free men and women of the world must face the threat to their liberty squarely and courageously."

And developments have reached the point, Mr. Truman said, at which America's position should be made unmistakably clear.

Mr. Truman then spoke of the high purposes of the United Nations charter, and added:

"We can not, however, close our eyes to the harsh fact that through obstruction and even defiance on the part of one nation, this great dream has not yet become a full reality."

Cites Three "Necessities"

Therefore, he said, supplementary measures are necessary for America — universal training, temporary revival of the draft, and swift action on the European recovery program.

"Time is now of critical importance," Mr. Truman said of the European aid plan.

The senate has approved European aid to be started with $5,300,000,000 for the first year. The house has not yet acted.

In urging universal training, the President said the United States must remain strong enough to support European countries threatened with Communist control and police state rule "so long as Communism threatens the very existence of democracy."

Universal training, he said, is the "only feasible means by which the civilian components of our armed force can be built up to the strength required if we are to be prepared for emergencies."

America's ability to mobilize trained men in large numbers in an emergency, he said, would lend off future conflict and help restore world stability.

"Strength for Peace"

Adoption of universal training in this country, he said, would supply "unmistakable evidence to all the world of our determination to back the will to peace with the strength for peace."

Temporary use of the draft, the President said, is needed to keep the armed forces at their proper strength.

He said these forces now lack the necessary men and have been unable to get them through enlistments.

Hence, Mr. Truman said, selective service is needed until universal training can be established solidly. Then it can be ended and regular forces maintained on a voluntary basis.

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace," the President said, "or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

Mr. Truman recited the course of events abroad before heading into his recommendations.

Names Russia

And, skipping the usual niceties of diplomatic language, he rapped at Russia directly and by name.

He said agreements had been worked out in world conferences which would have permitted a just peace. But he said they have been "persistently ignored and violated by one nation."

One nation, he said, has "persistently obstructed the work of the United Nations by constant abuse of the veto." Then the Chief Executive plodded grimly on:

"But that is not all. Since the close of hostilities, the Soviet Union and its agents have destroyed the independence and democratic character of a whole series of nations in Eastern and Central Europe.

"It is this ruthless course of action, and the clear design to extend it to the remaining free nations of Europe, that has brought about the critical situation in Europe today.

"The tragic death of the republic of Czechoslovakia has sent a shock throughout the civilized world. Now pressure is being brought to bear on Finland, to the hazard of the entire Scandinavian peninsula.

"Greece is under direct military attack from rebels actively supported by her Communist-dominated neighbors. In Italy, a determined and aggressive effort is being made by a Communist minority to take control of that country.

"The methods vary, but the pattern is all too clear."

World Wreck Recovery Plan

In the economic field, Mr. Truman said that Russia and her satellites have declared violent hostility to the European recovery program and are "aggressively attempting to wreck it."

They regard it, he said, as a major obstacle to their subjugating Europe.

Mr. Truman said he is encouraged by plans for quick house action on the European aid plan. "I hope," he said, "that no single day will be needlessly lost."

At the same time, Mr. Truman said that never in history has

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THIS is an ABC on the nation's two big strikes: meat and coal.

You'll feel them, if they last long enough.

Meat—the strike started yesterday morning.

Striking—100,000 CIO meat workers across the nation. Affected—all the big meat packing plants, many smaller. About 140 altogether.

The CIO wants a raise of 29 cents an hour. The companies offered 9 cents an hour.

James Marlow

The CIO said it would take 9 cents an hour right now and then let the difference between 9 cents and 29 cents be arbitrated. The owners said no to arbitration.

(Arbitration means both sides would agree on some outsider and let him decide whether the CIO should get more than 9 cents, and how much.)

About 150,000 other meat workers recently settled for a 9-cent raise. They're members of AFL or independent unions.

Those 150,000, since they've settled for 9 cents, are expected to stay on the job.

President Truman asked the CIO to delay the strike so a special board could be set up to examine the dispute. The CIO said "no" and struck.

Coal—this strike has been growing gradually all week.

John L. Lewis has about 400,000 soft coal diggers in his union. They haven't said they are striking. They just stayed away from work.

THERE'S A CLAUSE in their contract which says they'll work only when they're "willing and able." They're not willing right now.

The reason: Lewis wants the coal mine owners to grant a pension of $100 a month to every miner who's over 60 and who has worked in the mines 20 years.

Say the owners: Where's the money coming from? From the miners' welfare fund, says Lewis.

This fund has $20,000,000 in it now. It's been built up from a royalty of 10 cents a ton, on every ton mined, paid by the mine owners.

THE FUND—IT'S supposed to take care of miners' welfare in a number of ways—is run by a board of trustees.

Lewis is the union member of the board. Ezra Van Horn of Cleveland represents the owners on the board.

The argument between Lewis and Van Horn comes down to this: Lewis says the pension plan can be taken care of out of the present royalty of 10 cents a ton.

Van Horn says Lewis is asking the plan would mean about $33,000,000 in pensions the first year, or $3,000,000 more than is in the fund.

Lewis argues that the pension plan would cost only $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 the first year.

There was a third member of the board, Thomas E. Murray, but he quit in January with a blast at both Lewis and Van Horn.

He said they refused to budge on their opposite pension views.

YESTERDAY VAN HORN asked Lewis to let a federal judge name a new, third member to the board. But Lewis turned down this idea once before.

The miners started being "unwilling" to work after Lewis told them the mine owners had "dishonored" their contract. Meaning: The owners wouldn't agree on his pension plan.

The contract was signed last July; it runs until June 30.

Van Hor nsays Lewis is asking for pension benefits for a lot of miners not entitled to them.

Roughly, he figures about 22,000 miners would be eligible for a pension under Lewis' plan.

Meanwhile, the government says coal supplies are pretty low.

ANOTHER BIG LABOR dispute is cooking quietly but no explosion is expected. This is on the railroads.

A board of fact-finders—appointed by President Truman—has been trying to figure out what's fair in a dispute between:

The railroads and about 238,000 members of three railroad unions: Engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen.

Those three unions are asking a 30 per cent pay increase, with a raise of at least $3 a day.

The fact-finders will make a report late this month. But no matter what they decide, a railroad strike is not likely.

This dispute has been argued for months and Mr. Truman appointed his fact-finders as a sort of last resort to reach a settlement.

Marion Hen Acts As Sub for Easter Rabbit

A hen which the owner believes could very well "sub" for the Easter rabbit, lays a variety of eggs in her nesting place at an East George street location. The hen, a white rock two years old, is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Higley of 676 East George street. For some time she has been laying two or three eggs a week which are marked by a variety of patterns and shades.

Some are spotted, a sort of pattern of grayish patches on a nearly translucent background, some appear speckled with darker brown on a cream or tan ground, and others are nearly a bright orange color with tiny dark specks on the larger curved surface of the shell.

So, youngsters, if you are keeping an eye out for Easter bunny, you may not glimpse him at all. The fancy eggs left in the Easter nests which you put out near your house may be the works of art of Mrs. Higley's hen!

TELLS OF APPRAISALS

GALION — The reason why Galion city government and the Galion schools are at times hard pressed for money is because Galion is on the Crawford county tax duplicate for less than it should be. This fact was pointed out in a talk by Frederick Klein, Crawford county auditor, Monday before Rotarians. In further comparison, the auditor said that industrial and utility duplicates in Bucyrus, however, are higher than in Galion. Reappraisement of property is being based upon what the appraisers think the property would be worth in 1941.

Pollak 25 Year Club Dinner To Be Held Here Saturday

When Jack Pressman ends up his strolling accordion Saturday night at the Harding ballroom with "Hail Hail The Gangs All Here" Pollak Steel's annual 25 Year club dinner will be under way and the guests are assured that there will be no speeches.

Personal invitations have been issued to all eligible fellow workers by President Julian A. Pollak, himself a veteran of 41 years.

Arrangements for the dinner have been completed by Ed Baxter, plant personnel manager in cooperation with E. F. Wash of the sales department and C. L. Volkman, manager of construction materials. The latter two are veteran arrangers of the annual Pollak Marion picnic and other employee group affairs. Ed Snell who celebrated his fiftieth anniversary with Pollak in February of this year will be the veteran guest of honor. Mr. Snell began his duty with the company at the former Cincinnati plant in February 1897.

Solid gold emblems will be presented to each guest by President Pollak assisted by Plant Superintendent Jesse Rech. Pins will be provided for the women and lapel buttons for the men. There will also be several "special" presentations, the nature of which the committee will not divulge in advance. Stewart Judah, magician and master of mystery will provide the final note of fun.

The Pollak club has been operated on an informal basis for a number of years. A special feature of the 1948 gathering will be the formal organization of the club and the election of officers from among Marion plant 25 year employes. Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

WASHINGTON — It's that it costs them money. And PAYING income taxes is getting so painless now that nobody complains about them much any more—except taxpayers. What is money today? Money? One of the after studying the calendar, decided the whole tax program was a foreign plot

And all they object to generally against the In.b.

Hal Boyle

"I think it's a darn shame we have to pay all this money by March 15th," he wrote the bureau of internal revenue. "It's nothing but British propaganda to spoil our St. Patrick's day celebration."

He was among the fewer than one in ten thousand taxpayer who sit down with pen in hand each March to gripe at the tax collectors.

There used to be more beefing and quibbling. But it has been cut down by the new short tax forms and the system of withholding payments which removes the money from the taxpayer before he even sees it.

This year there were few midnight lines of frantic citizens.

"To avoid overtime costs we closed most offices at the regular time and saved $250,000 in overtime pay," said a man at the bureau here.

He added that the biggest nuisances to the collectors were taxpayers who forgot to sign their returns and those who tried to reduce their payments by fudging on Uncle Sam's definition of dependents.

SOME HAVE TRIED to write off as dependents their girl friends, their household pets—or even a tapeworm. One listed three fathers—his own and those of his two wives. Another put down his mother-in-law as "a discrepancy."

One old lady became angry because a collector refused to accept her "Bill" as a dependent after the collector discovered that "Bill" was a mule retired to pasture.

"I listed him for the last two years and nobody raised a fuss before," she complained.

Another woman insisted she had two dependent daughters called "Mabel."

"They were twins," she said, "and they looked so much alike we just decided to name them both Mabel."

The bureau gallantly bowed to this invincible maternal logic.

It is difficult to hurl a new insult at the tax collectors. With cheery good humor the bureau has made a scrapbook of the prize shafts aimed its way. Some samples:

ONE MAN ENCLOSED half a shirt with a partial tax payment and said, "I'll send you the rest of money and the other half of my shirt as soon as I can."

Another, who asked for a $60 refund and was awarded $90, wrote dazedly:

"I am now 65 years of age. At last I believe in Santa Claus."

A third threatened he would vote the Republican ticket for having to fork over taxes in an election year and concluded ominously:

"If the Democrats lose New York State by one vote the responsibility will rest solely with you."

Beneath a lock of hair pasted on his return, a taxpayer put this note:

"You have scalped me."

Another affixed a 10-cent piece with the brief rebuke:

"You got my last dime."

Others have written:

"I am being fair in reporting this additional income because I want to pay the devil his due."

"For three years I've come in here and paid my good dough. Why don't you be a sport about it and make this one on the house?"

"I don't mind paying a tax—but do you have to add my social security number to the total?"

"Only two things in life are certain—death and taxes. What I resent is that they don't come in that order."

But the tax collectors don't mind the gibes. Their motto: "It's a free country."

All Tested Seneca Co. Cattle Disease Free

By The United Press

TIFFIN, March 17—State Veterinarian R. S. Smiley yesterday said that a three-months tuberculin testing program in Seneca county revealed that the 24,941 cattle tested were free of the disease. The veterinarian said six tubercular cattle were found during the last countywide test four years ago and 300 during the first test in 1931.

H. and at the Marine air station at Mojave, Calif. The presentation was made by Chief Carl T. Prusnek, navy recruiter, local navy representative. Your Good Health

Causes of Mental Fatigue

All work and no play has never seemed to be a good plan for living. And in these high-tension modern days, when nearly everybody works under stress of one kind or another, it is particularly bad.

It has often been said that hard work can harm nobody; that it is never responsible for physical or mental breakdowns. And yet Dr. Charles R. Rayburn of the University of Oklahoma Medical School, thinks that heavy, prolonged responsibility, plus long hours of hard work with little rest or recreation, may eventually lead to a condition which he calls Mental Fatigue Syndrome. A syndrome is a group of symptoms.

The symptoms of this condition are like those which developed in servicemen during combat or in airmen after prolonged airplane flights.

In this so-called mental fatigue syndrome there are changes in the personality. The condition often develops in persons who have a strong, nervous make-up and who, consequently, may have been given extra responsibilities. The patients complain of a variety of physical disturbances, such as vague pains in various parts of the body, headache, and fatigue. But despite their complaints they resent sympathy and attention. They often try to be alone and may even decline any medical aid, but realizing that something is wrong they try to account for it by saying they are nervous.

As a rule, the symptoms are worse in the morning, while the patient feels better in the afternoon. These patients are not worried about themselves, but they are restless, irritable, and unable to concentrate. Frequently, they are depressed. Most of them will recover completely when their responsibilities are decreased and they are freed, in so far as possible, from fear, anxiety or emotional strain.

In all walks of life, recreational habits are important. Everyone should see to it that he gets enough time for rest and relaxation, and that relaxation is of the proper type. This in itself will do much to ward off the so-called mental fatigue state. In some cases, if the condition develops, a complete change of occupation may be necessary.

The mental fatigue state must not be confused with another condition, called neurasthenia, which develops in people suffering from emotional disturbances. These persons do not have a strong nervous make-up and easily break down even under the problems of ordinary life.

The person with mental fatigue will recover with proper treatment. The one with neurasthenia often recovers much more slowly. The neurasthenic is anxious about himself and his physical health. He seeks sympathy at all times, and may go from physician to physician, looking for advice and medical counsel. Hence, when the symptoms of mental fatigue develop, the need of a specialist often is required to tell just what condition is present so that the most effective treatment may be utilized.

It's Planting Day For Marion Gardener

Today may be a day to celebrate for most folks but for Norval V. Foreman of 313 South Grand avenue there were chores to be done before he joined the St. Patrick's day observance.

Following a custom of 19 years' standing, Mr. Foreman planted sweet peas and lettuce at his home this morning. The weather has nothing to do with it, he plants his flowers and vegetables come rain, snow or sunshine, and they grow. In fact he has "home grown" lettuce as much as a month ahead of other local gardeners.

Today his garden planting yielded a sure sign of spring, two grub worms and a handful of fishworms that would delight any fisherman. Also he took time to "thin" out his raspberry bushes and received for his trouble some healthy "starters" which he plans to give to some of his friends.

W.C.T.U. Head Urges County Dry Options

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 17 — Miss Mary B. Ervin, state W.C.T.U. president, today asked the Ohio membership to devote the next six months to the cause of county option.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the state W.C.T.U.'s annual mid-year executive meeting, she said such a program would "demonstrate the new-day spirit of the early crusaders in a marvelous way."

The year 1948 marks the seventy-fifth anniversary of the W.C.T.U.'s founding at Hillsboro, Ohio.

Gasoline Tax Rates Assailed as Too High

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 17. —Ohio's petroleum industry committee lashed out today against what it described unreasonable gasoline taxes.

John L. Marsh, committee executive secretary, said state gas tax receipts last year were 35 per cent over 1937. He listed 1947 collections of $64,742,141.60.

"This, of course, means an enormous increase in our highway revenues over one short decade," Marsh said, "but it also represents a great increase in the special tax burden of one group of citizens." An Ohio motorist must pay 5½ cents in taxes on every gallon of gas, Marsh said; four cents goes to the state, the rest to the federal government.

Test of Taft-Hartley Act

THE first major test of the Taft-Hartley act's injunction power may be made in connection with the coal mine and packing house strikes.

The law gives the chief executive certain powers in case national health or safety is in danger. He can appoint a board of inquiry to inquire into the issues. The board's report must be made to the President, who is required to file a copy with the federal mediation and conciliation service. He then may direct the attorney general to petition any district court of the United States with proper jurisdiction to enjoin the strike if the court finds that national health or safety might be jeopardized. The court's decision is subject to review by the appropriate circuit court of appeals and the supreme court.

After the injunction has been issued, the chief executive must reconvene the board of inquiry. At the end of 60 days it must make a new report. Within the next 15 days the national labor relations board must take a secret ballot of employes involved on the question of whether or not they wish to accept the employer's last offer. Five days after the election the NLRB must certify the results to the attorney general, who then must move to discharge the injunction when the results of the ballot have been certified or upon settlement of the dispute. The court must grant the motion.

There is no guarantee that anything will be settled—only an 80-day period of federal intervention and the risk of a federal injunction. At the end of a period, if no settlement is reached, the strike could take place beyond reach of the Taft-Hartley act. All who are wondering why John L. Lewis has chosen to call out his union members in mid-March when his contract doesn't expire until the end of June will note that this strategy would leave him free to call a strike at that time beyond reach of the law if the Taft-Hartley act happens to be invoked against him within the next three weeks.

No Time for Idealism

A CHANGE of Allied policy in western Europe is taking the emphasis off changing the corporate setup in heavy industry, according to Gen. Lucius Clay. Only a few companies having monopolistic control of consumer goods will be affected in the future, and dissolution of agreements among independent concerns is being abandoned.

These changes indicate that occupation authorities are adopting a more realistic approach to problems in the Allied zone. The breakup of existing industrial relationships, while contemplated as essential for a demilitarized Germany, at present would require costly adjustments and hamper production.

Recovery of western Europe depends in large degree on Germany's capital goods production. That recovery can't be long delayed if the western countries are to resist the political disturbances accompanying economic unrest. By their action, occupation authorities indicate that introducing idealism into the harsh realities of western Europe would be a future gesture.

Bumper Crop of Babies

THE census bureau reports that the 3,908,000 births in 1947 set a record for the second successive year, which might lead some to think new records will be chalked up annually from now on. Such isn't likely to be the case, however, because births were beginning to decline toward the end of last year. The nation's families aren't having more children per unit; it's just that the marriage boom of recent years has reduced the numbers of spinsters and bachelors to record lows.

According to students of population trends, the marriage graph, which moves in an 18-year cycle, has just passed its peak. The birth trend is likely to follow the marriage trend downward, how far depending on a number of factors, notably economic conditions and housing. But no matter how sharply the birth rate declines in the next year or two, the record baby crops of recent years assure busy days for schools in the 1950's.

Civilization's Cradle

THE Dodecanese Isles are Greece's again after more than 400 years in the hands of other powers. From the deck of the destroyer Themistocles, Greece's King Paul and Queen Frederika have reclaimed the isles first held by the Turks, then by the Italians.

Along with Crete, the Dodecanese Isles are among the early seats of civilization. There the first philosophers held discourse in academic groves. The Hippocratic oath was first uttered there. Aegean art and architecture surpassed that of all previous civilizations.

While it has trouble on its northern border, Greece reclaims island territories which hold annals of its great past—annals of which the Greeks are proud.

Did You Know

The Bonneville salt flats of Utah, now being used again as an automobile speedway, resulted from the recession of waters of a lake which once was as big as Lake Michigan.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Piece of Hide Taken from a Government Bureau.

IT A too little [illegible] ing opinion, Mr. Justice Jackson, with the concurrence of Mr. Justice Frankfurter, has low the administrative agencies of government more corporeity. It was the case of S.E.C. v. Chenery Corporation, et al.

The case itself is of small importance. What it amounts to is that some officers and directors of the corporation bought on the open market some preferred stock of the company while a reorganization plan was pending with the SEC. No law, judicial precedent, regulation or rule of the SEC forbids the transaction. Nevertheless, the commission ordered those who purchased this stock to sell it, but issued no similar orders to others to do likewise even though they made purchases at the same time. But the officers and directors had to obey the SEC, which holds a life-or-death power over such corporations.

SOKOLSKY

These directors went into the courts for relief, but found that although they were within the law, had violated no law, had done nothing which, at the moment, was illegal or an abuse of a well-established standard of conduct, they nevertheless lost their case. They lost it on the ground that the administrative experience of the SEC had to be upheld, law or no law. It also was shown in this case that SEC had had no previous administrative experience in this particular type of matter; nevertheless, the lack of administrative experience had to be upheld! For what the court said was:

"Hence, we refuse to say that the commission, which had not previously been confronted with the problem of management trading during reorganization, was forbidden from utilizing this particular proceeding for announcing and applying a new standard of conduct."

Two Justices Concur

To this, Mr. Justice Jackson replied (concurred in by Mr. Justice Frankfurter):

"The court's reasoning adds up to this: the commission must be sustained because of its accumulated experience in solving a problem with which it had never before been confronted."

In other words, SEC and the majority of the court make their laws, apply them retroactively and produce a total anarchy. It is amazing how often the administrative agencies go off on their own in precisely this manner, ignoring the law, redefining acts of congress, functioning by whim and fancy. Justice Jackson said:

"If it is of no consequence that no rule of law be existent to support an administrative order, and the court of appeals is obliged to defer to administrative experience and to sustain a commission's power merely because it has been asserted and exercised, of what use is it to print a record or briefs in the case, or to hear argument?"

Why Any Laws?

It might further be asked, why, if any agency of administration can do as it pleases, without regard to law, penalizing one group of citizens in the private interest of another—why, if this is possible, does congress pass laws at all? Why not leave everything to the administrative experience of those who have had no experience?

I want to quote this important statement by Mr. Justice Jackson:

"The truth is that in this decision the court approves the commission's assertion of power to govern the matter without law, power to force surrender of stock so purchased whenever it will, and power also to overlook such acquisitions if it so chooses. The reasons which will lead it to take one course as against the other remain locked in its own breast, and it has not and apparently does not intend to commit them to any rule or regulation. This administrative authoritarianism, this power to decide without law, is what the court seems to approve in so many words: 'The absence of a general rule or regulation government management trading during reorganization did not affect the commission's duties . . .' This seems to me to undervalue and to belittle the place of law, even in the system of administrative justice. It calls to mind Mr. Justice Cardoza's statement that 'law as a guide to conduct is reduced to the level of mere futility if it is unknown and unknowable.'"

It is a hopeful sign that there are at least two justices on the supreme court of the United States who respect the law. Perhaps in time there will be more.

"Eventually—Why Not Now?"

By Raymond Moley

THE advertising slogan, "Eventually—why not now?" characterizes a feeling which has rapidly gained ground in this country in the past few weeks. Pollsters report that half of our people now regard war with Russia as inevitable. Some—fortunately not all—believe in letting the war come at once.

This, we must remember, is a state of mind, not a conclusion based on solid facts. But it hardly needs to be said that a state of mind is often as dangerous as a set of facts. It must be approached, the psychologists tell us, in two ways. The first is to calculate whether the immediate irritants which caused the state of mind can be or are likely to be removed. The second is to examine the facts which lie back of the mental reaction to see whether they justify the mental condition and whether they are likely to change for the better. This piece concerns itself with the first of these approaches.

MOLEY

It can be taken for granted that the great majority of us do not want to have a war now, even if we believe a war is bound to come sometime. That majority takes the position that even if our semi-peace is living on borrowed time, it is well to use that time to the best possible advantage. Our lives themselves are borrowed from the infinite. And our moral nature tells us that we should try to live as long as we can, despite the inevitability of death.

Futile Arguments

But to use this figure with the eventually-why-not-now people brings a quick answer. They say, "We are not talking about suicide. We are talking about a serious but necessary surgical operation. Bring on the anaesthetic and the knives now, while our health is good and before the disease has made further progress." And so the argument ends, as arguments usually do end, with no hits, no runs and plenty of errors.

However, if we examine the probabilities immediately ahead, we can anticipate the weakening of the melancholy sooner-the-better conclusion. One factor in the building up of this feeling has been official propaganda for ERP. Over and over in hearings before congressional committees, witnesses have painted black pictures of the crisis in Europe. These were, for the most part, true and sincere. But it is only human in such a case to lay on the color a bit too thick.

Change in Tune Likely

Since ERP is calculated to help matters, we may assume that as soon as it is passed we shall hear from its advocates a brighter story about Europe. Secretary Marshall may have gone too far in calling the Czech crisis a reign of terror. Certainly, he could hardly have expected the public to follow his advice about keeping calm when he was also telling us that there was nothing to be calm about. When high officials use words to create public opinion, they can never be sure how effective their words may be. President Roosevelt started a recession, 10 years ago, by some strong words about prices. As the record stands, Messrs. Truman and Marshall have been none too astute in selling ERP to the public. There is bound to be some reaction from the stress created by their pronouncements.

Italy Comes Next

The Italian election in April will probably be the next crisis, and if that is passed successfully, there will be some further easing in the war of nerves.

All this, however, is based on the uncertain assumption that Russia will not provoke further fear in the near future. The war spirit may spread here if things begin to happen in Berlin, in Austria or in Scandinavia. But barring that, we may expect an easier spring.

Testing Baby's Intelligence

Normal Infant Easily Frightened.

A NOTED psychologist says one way to test a baby's intelligence is to scare him with funny faces. If he doesn't scare, the chances are he isn't too bright.

Dr. A. R. Gilliland, Northwestern university psychologist, says he and his associates have devised a new system for testing a baby's intelligence before the infant can talk.

The tests could be used to help couples who adopt children to make a wise choice. They also can be used to check up on the boasts of proud parents. Dr. Gilliland and his associates worked six years an about 1,000 children between 5 and 12 weeks old to get the final test items. The selection was carefully chosen out of the world which surrounds the cradle. As the child grows older, results will be checked with other tests.

"We try to find out how a baby deals with the social aspects of his world, rather than strictly with his physical progress," the doctor said. "The baby's degree of adaptability measures his intelligence."

The tests show whether a child is at least average.

Rattles, lights, sunny faces make up the "questions" for the infant. In one of them, a red and yellow rabbit's mask suddenly replaces the examiner's face.

"If the child gives evidence of responding by concentrating his gaze or by being frightened and crying," Dr. Gilliland said, "he gets credit for the right answer."

If the child ignores the change in his environment, he shows that he is not adapting himself.

You may glean knowledge by reading, but you must separate the chaff from the wheat by thinking. —Osborn.

How War Might Come

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE atmosphere in Washington today is no longer a postwar atmosphere. It is, to put it bluntly, a prewar atmosphere. That is not to say that war with the Soviet Union is necessarily either inevitable or imminent. Yet it is now universally admitted that war within the next few months is certainly possible. For it is believed that some sort of showdown is on the way, that for better or for worse the boil will soon be lanced. The showdown may come anywhere around the vast Soviet perimeter, and at any time. Yet most observers believe that it is most likely to come in Italy, soon after the Italian elections April 18. What happens in Italy next month might lead to some sort of breathing space, at least an armed truce between East and West. Or it might lead to war.

The outcome of the Italian elections, the experts point out, can fall into any one of three categories. It is possible, though unlikely, that the vote for the Communist-controlled "people's front" will be less than generally anticipated, perhaps below 35 per cent of the total. It is possible, though also unlikely, that the Communist bloc will gain a clear majority. And it is possible, and apparently likely (for this is the result which the Pope, with the Vatican's matchless intelligence service at his disposal, is known to expect) that the pro-Communist vote will be more than 40 per cent of the total vote.

If Red Vote Is Low

If the Communist bloc polls less than 35 per cent of the vote, the non-Communists headed by the Christian Democrat Alcide de Gasperi will certainly form a government excluding the Communists and their stooges. The Communists could react to such a government by remaining at least temporarily passive. This is not believed probable. They could resort to direct action, on the pattern of last autumn's strikes and Communist-inspired riots. Most observers in Italy believe that de Gasperi could deal with this challenge, as he dealt with it last autumn. Or, finally, the Communists could refuse to recognize the outcome of the election, and seize the cities in the north where they are strongest. This would be the signal for civil war.

If the Communist bloc wins a clear majority of the vote, the Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, using the bought-and-paid-for Socialist leader Pietri Nenni as his front man, will take all power. Moscow's Politburo will thus become the real masters of the Italian people. The mass of Italian non-Communists could accept this outcome. Or they could resist, which would again mean civil war in Italy.

Danger of Civil War

If the Communist bloc wins more than 40 per cent of the vote, as both the Vatican and the American embassy in Rome anticipate, it will be difficult, and perhaps impossible, for de Gasperi to form a government excluding the Communists. The Communists will certainly demand the key ministries of war, justice and interior. If de Gasperi agrees, that will be the beginning of the end, as recent history has tragically demonstrated. If he refuses, he will be forced into the position of attempting to form a government with the extreme Italian Right. The Communists have frequently intimated that in this event their reaction will be to fight—again, a civil war in Italy.

It is some such reasoning as this which has led the experts to conclude that an Italian civil war this spring is, although not certain, by no means improbable, whatever the outcome of the elections. And a civil war in Italy will confront this country with its most crucial decision since the end of World War II.

A clear majority for the Communist bloc in the elections, followed by civil war, would present the United States with an almost impossible moral and political choice. But in the event of a Communist attempt to seize power after polling a minority of the vote, the American course is already fairly clear.

The experts believe that since the Italian army and the Carabinieriare both loyal and efficient, a non-Communist Italian government could deal with the Communist partisan army, provided material aid were supplied by the United States. It can be assumed that, unless American foreign policy is suddenly totally reversed, such aid will be forthcoming in case of civil war in Italy. However, the experts believe that if Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito recognizes a "free Italian government" under Togliatti, and sends in Yugoslav troops, either openly or clandestinely, the non-Communists will need more than American supplies. They will need American troops. And all the indications are that, rather than see Italy fall to Moscow, American troops will be sent.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Letters for Special Delivery

DR HERBERT J. STACK,

N. Y. University Center for Safety Educa-

DEAR DOC:-

This is really a letter to Colonel E. S. Wa- Motor Vehicle Commissioner of Connecticut to all other motor vehicle commissioners as well as to you. It is a result of an announcement right out of the believe-it-or-not alley that drive for greater safety on highways is to highlighted by a special test for 100 chr violators of traffic laws, after which they "will receive letters explaining to them why they are so careless."

PHILLIPS

Tell me, is this just a movement in cooperation with the promoters of National Laugh week? Millions of Americans already in a state of jitters over death in auto traffic will be further shaken by the news that the boys who make a habit of running wild all over the landscape are to be treated so delicately. Indeed, the news that a motor commissioner and you know of 1 CHRONIC VIOLATORS still lose and in circulation is enough to stir the hairs on a fright w

* * *

Colonel Watson states that these 100 habitual menaces to life and limb are under court charges and that the results of the tests will determine to some extent what to do with them. (You pardon me at this point while I climb up a tree to continue this note)

* * *

You state that the Safety Education tests determine these habitual offenders' "Proneness to accidents" and check on "faulty attitudes which are a major cause of mishaps." Who cares about the proneness of a chronic pothole killers' to accidents? I was under the impression that when the authorities once got a line on such "proneness" to manslaughter they yank their licenses away and no monkeyshines. I was under the news any state definitely knows of 100 still at large and thinks the next move is a clinical sideshow in which psychology, charts, psychiatric gibberish and a nice polite letter will figure.

* * *

Do you, Dr. Stack and Commissioner Watson really think the way to curb the frightful toll of accidents and deaths is to play games with CHRONIC nose-thumbers at the rules and regulations? Do you think any guy who makes a habit of passing cars on the wrong side, busting the speed laws, cutting corners too sharp, crashing red lights and roaring by school houses rates a cute little test on his "proneness" and "faulty attitude?" I just want to know. (You won't mind if I go up another few branches in this tree, will you, Doc?)

* * *

The part that gets me is your intention to write a letter to these boys and girls explaining to THEM why they are that way.

Something like "Dear Menace:—This is just a few lines to let you know the clinical test has revealed that you just don't give a darn. I thought you would like to know. Trusting now that everything is clear, you will enjoy happy motoring, etc."

* * *

The newspaper says these clinics are to be held in many states. (Upsy daisy! I am up in the top branch now, and still don't feel safe) Well anyhow, let me know how everything comes out below but don't worry too much about me. Just be nice to the chronic violators.

Yours in a cold sweat,

ELMER.

Honk! Honk!

Peter Helek, an artist of Boston Corners, N. Y., won first prize at the National Antique Automobile show, with the famous racing car "Old 16," the Locomobile that won the Vanderbilt cup in 1908. Helek, as a kid of 13, saw the car flash by him on the Jericho turnpike in the contest, and says he always wanted it. He got it a few years ago....Second prize went to the Thomas Flyer, the car that won the Round-The-World race in 1908. It is owned by F. V. duPont of Wilmington, Del.

Remember away back among those old time cars when you had to open the petcocks over the motor, squirt in gasoline, fix the gadgets on the steering wheel correctly, crank the car and then dash back to the wheel to make adjustments?.....And when, to put on the headlights you turned a nut under the running board and then galloped up front and held a match as the prestolite gas came hissing out?

Uncle Sam is getting his draft machinery in shape again....just in case. That day when a moth could get into a uniform seems over.

Type Lice

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the first things a cub reporter learns in newspaper business is about type lice, which must be seen to be appreciated. So, after a suitable buildup, eager conspirators in the composing room take the greenhorn into that sacred precinct and let him see more type lice in the flesh.

Of course it's a joke. In fact a crude joke.

Printers pour a little water into a small open space in a partly made-up column of type. Chalk is ground up and floated on the surface of the water—lice, see? When the suckers lean down to look at them, a printer suddenly shoves the rest of the type in the column into the water-filled hole and geysers the water into the boob's face. He now knows about type lice and can't wait until a new sucker comes along.

But he doesn't know all about type lice. There really are such mites. They love and have their being—rear their families and lead a pleasant life—burrowing in Babbitt metal. You can hear them working when the last edition has gone to press and everybody has gone home. Janitors who sweep up between shifts in the composing room know about them. Anyone who ever has walked through an empty composing room after dark knows about them.

When everything is quiet they climb out of their burrows and stroll into editorial rooms. They love to play with typewriters, pencils and half-finished stories. They monkey with telephones and teletype machines. They pore over reporters' notes and make little alterations here and there, to suit their taste. They teach the little ones the skills of their ancient trade—louding up things.

They scamper back to their burrows in the Babbitt metal when another working day begins. It's a furtive life but a merry one. Because type lice get pleasure out of what they do. They know about everything in the paper, because they helped put it there. When something has been loused up real good they're happy and proud. They hear editors blaming printers and printers blaming editors and both of them blaming reporters and reporters blaming people who gave them a bum steer—and they chuckle in their tiny way because they know who did it.

They did it. They loused it up. Anyone who thinks type lice are a gag because he once got squirted in the face has been thrown off the track. They're there all right, all right—and if you don't think so look back at the second word in the third sentence of the fourth paragraph of this piece—where it says, "They love and have their" . . . etc. That was supposed to be "They live." That's the kind of thing only a healthy

The program is being prepared by Lloyd Calhoun, Marion Clark, Lloyd Lutz, and Sanford Marshall. The boys will be contacted by a committee composed of Fred Hoch, Harley Mayers, R. E. Scott, Lloyd Calhoun, Harold Carroll and R. F. Terrall.

The gilts were turned over to the boys last June at weights varying between 60 and 100 pounds. The boys take care of the animals under a program outlined by the vocational agriculture instructors and implemented by the agriculture committee of the Chamber. At pigging time the boys have the option of reserving one gilt from the litter which shall be returned to the agriculture committee at weaning age, or retaining the gilt and her litter until marketing age, at which time the boy may pay the committee in cash the market price of one 200 pound gilt. If either of these options are exercised and the rules for raising the gilts observed, after completion of the term of the option selected by the boy, the original gilt and the remainder of the pigs are his.

Participants in the program were selected by committees representing the vocational agriculture teachers of the county, the 17 4-H clubs, the five Vocational Agriculture clubs, and the agriculture departments of the county schools. The program has been in operation since 1944.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I DID not score Georges for his forbidden interruption. I was too busy analyzing the tone in which he asked the question. Was there in his voice, disappointed egotism at the discovery that Mary's long sanitarium sojourn was not due to conflict between her frustrated love for him and her duty to Noel her husband, as he so crazily had conjectured? Or, did I hear an undertone of relief that he need not charge his conscience with her illness.

I decided that I could not read the royal mind, and made my answer short and emphatic.

"I mean exactly that," I said. "Now, secondly," I began to tick the points off on my fingers—"from the time your international romantic quartet, as my husband used to call it, broke up, Mary has had no romantic thought save for her husband, Noel. She is wrapped up in him, and he in her."

I spiked another interruption with a further humiliating truth. "She coquetted with you whenever she saw you," I said, "as she has coquetted with every personable male in her vicinity since she was three, and will continue to allure as long as she lives. She has done this partly because of the innocent flirtatious instinct within her, as natural as the breath she draws, and partly because of her resentment of the horrible jealousy of her which Noel used to display."

"Used to?" Georges exploded.

"Yes, used to," I said calmly. "For some time before Mary went to the sanitarium, Noel did not stage a single tantrum. They were idyllically happy."

I was ruthless now, and told him something which I had promised Mary I never would let him know. I salved my conscience with the excuse that I was doing it for her.

"As for your parting scene," I said, making my words as heavy with satire as I could manage, "my husband and I happen to know about that—not from Mary she was not to blame, did not know about it until afterward—but at first hand."

Georges' lips whitened and tightened.

"What do you mean?" he almost whispered.

"The door of our bedroom came ajar just before the climax of your scene," I explained. "I do not think I have to assure you"—my tone challenged him to contradict me—"that we did not know it was improperly fastened. But it squeaks when it is closed, and we did not dare close it, lest you and Mary know we were there. You were at the stage when knowing you had listeners might have unhinged your reason." I tried subtly to convey that he had nothing substantial to unhinge. "Therefore we were involuntary listeners to that parting scene." Mary did not tell us anything about it; she did not have to because we heard it all.

"We also saw and heard her reactions afterward," I went on ruthlessly, "and I can assure you there was no frustrated affection behind them. She was angry at your insolence, but she also was highly amused, as we were. I never have heard her laugh more heartily."

I had overstepped my mark. I realized that when I saw an ugly expression come into Georges' eyes, while his voice charged with suppressed fury, was stubborn.

"I hope I am still a gentleman of royal rank," he said. "It is not in my tradition to contradict a lady. Therefore I shall not comment upon your very interesting account of the door that came open. But I will remind you that your story of Mary's amusement does not convince me of my error. She is a consummate actress, and she doubtless went all out to fool you."

CAN'T RELY MUCH YET ON ATOMIC SOURCES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17 — High government officials say there are three fuel sources that we must not depend on too much as supplements to our dwindling domestic petroleum supplies. They are:

1. Atomic energy.
2. Secondary recovery of oil from old fields.
3. Imports of oil from the middle east.

Atomic energy as a source of power on a large commercial scale is not even in sight, say the scientists who are working on it.

David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission (AEC) guesses it will be eight or 10 years before even "a useful, practical demonstration plant is in operation."

"And even after the scientific and engineering underbrush has been cleared away," he says, "and a commercially useful plant of some size is in successful operation, there are other barriers that must be overcome before any substantial part of our energy supply—say 10 to 20 per cent—comes from atomic energy."

The AEC's general advisory committee said in a recent discussion:

"We do not see how it would be possible under the most favorable circumstances to have any considerable portion of the present power supply of the world derived from nuclear fuel before the expiration of 20 years."

Another subject on which there has been a lot of theorizing is the reworking of old fields to bring up oil left the first time. Some results have been astonishing, but the director of the interior department's oil and gas division, Max W. Ball, says don't expect too much from it.

It probably will never add more than two to five billion barrels to our reserves, Ball says. We would use that up in two or three years at the present rate.

Ball says it is not likely that much oil will be obtained from secondary recovery in new fields, which have been properly worked. Modern techniques drain all the oil the first time and leave nothing to be recovered later, he says.

FIRE HITS PACKING PLANT

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., March 17—Five fire companies were required last night to extinguish a fire which swept through the Canton Provision Co. The blaze was confined to offices in the main plant and there was no estimate of the damage. Firemen said it was believed to have started in an air duct.

Social Affairs

ELECTION of officers for the coming two years, named delegates to the state convention and a discussion of plans for the golden anniversary celebration in May made up the business session when the executive board of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs met Tuesday at the Federation Home.

Mrs. Dale Lawrence was elected president of the federation and with other officers presented by the nominating committee at the February meeting will take over her duties at a combined meeting of the retiring board and newly-elected members at the annual meeting in May. The meeting also will mark the close of the federation season.

Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, who will retire as president this year and Mrs. Lawrence, were named delegates and Mrs. W. N. Harder and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer alternates to the state convention to be held at Columbus in April.

Mrs. James Ralston, chairman of the committee in charge of plans for fine arts day, announced a change in the date for the annual event. Because of a conflicting date with the closing program of the Civic Concert series, the fine arts program will be held on Monday, May 3 instead of May 4 as originally planned. Mrs. Walter E. Hane, art chairman, announced that exhibits of heirlooms of 50 years ago would be a feature of the anniversary celebration. The fine arts program will be at the federation Home in the afternoon followed by an anniversary program and banquet at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Clare Smith, literature chairman, announced the rules for entries in the scrapbook and literary contests. Deadline for the scrapbook contest is 9 a. m. Monday, April 19 and entries in the literature contest are to be in not later than April 15. Clubs also are asked to provide flower arrangements for the fine arts display.

Miss Alice Caulfield, Pan-American Fellowship chairman, announced April 14 as Pan American day and asked the clubs to give recognition to it in some manner in their programs. Mrs. Troy McClure, American Citizenship chairman, asked the clubs to devote some time to education in citizenship.

A gift of war bonds amounting to $150 at maturity, was announced. The bonds, presented to the federation by Le Mercure club, will be added to the Federation Home fund. Miss Helen Boxse, chairman for the sale of articles made by the blind of the state, reported more than $2,000 netted for the cause in sales held by clubs in the federation this season.

Following an informal discussion in which several of the members voiced their objections to a ruling of the supreme court against the teaching of the Bible in the public schools, Mrs. Sutherland, with the approval of the board, named Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Ray Gatewood and a third member to be chosen later, to draft a protest to be sent to government representatives in Washington, expressing the board's views. It was pointed out that while the court ruling is final, a protest would express the board's sentiments on the matter.

Mrs. Sutherland presided for the meeting which opened with a salute to the Flag. Music for the meeting was by Raymond Roecker, who sang two numbers, appropriate to the season, "Open the Gates of the Temple" and "Rose of Tralee." His accompaniments were played by Mrs. William Ackerman Jr.

Mrs. J. E. Oliphant, president-elect, named chairmen and committees for the coming year at a meeting of the Advance club Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. J. Maulz of South Seffner avenue. They are Mrs. J. K. Rutherford, chairman, Mrs. R. L. Morgan, Mrs. D. H. Weber and Mrs. Claire Williams, program; Mrs. H. H. Clark, chairman, Mrs. F. D. Loudenslager, Mrs. D. E. Sloan and Mrs. E. A. Cuthbert, social, Mrs. J. F. Smyth, chairman, Mrs. Bernhard Peterson and Mrs. H. R. Finney, finance, Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, fine arts; Mrs. Earl Wittiner, education; Mrs. L. C. Wogan, public welfare, Mrs. R. L. Gettman, international relations; Mrs. F. O. Uncapher, club extension; Mrs. H. S. Ropke, Girl Scouts, Mrs. F. C. Gegenheimer, memorial, Mrs. Roy Holdridge, patroness; Mrs. George E. Frank, American citizenship; Mrs. M. K. Marshall, radio; Mrs. H. J. Maulz, historian.

Mrs. Oliphant and Mrs. J. K. Rutherford, program chairman, were named delegates and Mrs. Harry J. Merchant, vice president-elect, was chosen an alternate to the state convention to be held April 20, 21 and 22 at Columbus. A member of the program committee will be named an alternate to the meeting. Mrs. R. L. Morgan was the auctioneer for a benefit bake sale. Mrs. Morgan also gave a report on International Relations.

Mrs. DeForest Feller entertained with a personal shower Thursday evening at her home at 656 Uncapher avenue for the pleasure of her niece, Mrs. Robert Killinger of Willow street. The honored guest was presented her gifts by her cousins, Mrs. Charles Hacker and Mrs. Edwin Vance. Decorations were in pink and blue and refreshments were served.

Guests included Mrs. Bertha Paessler, Mrs. Harry Buckingham, Mrs. Cecil Noble, Mrs. Lee Hathaway, Mrs. Edwin Vance, Mrs. Marion Lloyd, Mrs. Roy Buckingham, Mrs. Irey Williams, Mrs. Dorthie Titus, Mrs. Charles Redmon and Mrs. Kyle Little, all of Marion, Mrs. Charles Eblin and Mrs. Damon Spicer of near Marion, Mrs. George Redmon and Mrs. Wayne Cockron of Edison, Mrs. Charles Hacker of Cardington and Mrs. Homer Miller of Delaware.

Mrs. Eleanor Smith of South State street entertained Saturday in her home in honor of the fourth birthday anniversary of her son, Martin Smith. The observance was in the form of a circus party. A table centerpiece was a carrousel, hat favors for each child were decorated with animals, and place cards and candy cups were to match. Jumping ropes were special favors for the girls, and red toy racers for the boys. Games were played. The following guests and their mothers were present, Judy and Mrs. Harold Tobin, Carol and Mrs. Richard P. Jennings, Cynthia and Mrs. Richard Wright, Diana and Mrs. Clayton Lehman, Michael and Mrs. George Griffiths, Richard and Mrs. Richard Price, and David and Mrs. L. W. Kohlhorst.

Mrs. George Turner was hostess to the Research club Monday afternoon at her home at 281 Hane avenue. Mrs. C. H. Indoe, vice president, presided for the meeting and members responded to roll call with Bible quotations. For the program, in charge of Mrs. C. J. Bever, a poem, "The Last Supper" by Helen Welshimer, was read by Mrs. Bever, a vocal solo, "Prayer For Peace" by Sibelius, was given by Mrs. Turner, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. C. Alexander, and a paper, "The Religions and Caste System of India," was reviewed by Mrs. S. L. Lecka. A discussion led by Mrs. W. H. Pohler followed. The next meeting will be March 20 at the Federation Home with Mrs. O. C. Alspach as hostess.

Miss Edith Keeler gave an illustrated talk on "Trees" at a meeting of the Burroughs Nature club last evening at the home of Miss Alice Sneckenberger on North State street. Mrs. John H. Clark, president, presided for the business session and the program was in charge of Mrs. Hazel Strubel. The roll call topic was in keeping with the program theme and Mrs. Clark read a poem, "Green Heritage," by B. Y. Williams. Continuing a review of the club's activities Mrs. Mary Jordan read the minutes of March meetings 30 years ago. Miss Alice Caulfield, 20 years ago and Miss Marie Stull 10 years ago. Plans were discussed for an anniversary party April 19 at Greenwood inn. Miss Mary Hemmerly, a student at Ohio State university, Columbus, was a guest. Refreshments and a social hour followed the program. Assisting Miss Sneckenberger as hostesses were Miss Sophia Mack, Mrs. Floy Wideman, Miss Grace Wingett and Mrs. W. C. Haldeman.

The first anniversary of founding of the Monday Night Bridge club was observed at the meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Paul Swartz on Powhattan street with Mrs. Ross Shoup as co-hostess. In bridge, honors went to Miss Virginia McClure and Mrs. Robert Messenger. For observance of the anniversary and St. Patrick's day theme, individual brass candlesticks held green candles. Guests were Mrs. James Bull, Mrs. Carl Lytle and Mrs. Richard Shively. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Messenger on Universal avenue.

Mrs. Gaile Baker of 167 London street and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Daly of Mansfield, left Sunday for a vacation at Daytona Beach, Fla. Enroute home they will stop in Washington, D. C.

TWO OFFICERS INSTALLED

Two officers were installed, Mrs. Mary Moran as vice president and Mrs. Violet Boler as treasurer, at a meeting of the Catholic Ladies of Columbus Monday night in the community house. The installation was conducted by Mrs. Genevieve McKinney, president.

Two Traffic Arrests Reported by Patrol

Two arrests and convictions for traffic violations were reported by highway patrolmen during the past 24 hours.

Donald Leroy Borland, 26, of Richwood was fined $10 and costs by Judge W. D. Hazen on a charge of operating his car with fictitious license plates. He was arrested on route 4, south of Marion, at 3 p. m. yesterday.

Wade V Kern, 32, of Cleveland was fined $5 and costs last night by Mayor R R Bennington of Mt. Gilead on a charge of operating his car without a tail light on route 42 south of Mt Gilead.

FIVE NATIONS

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's announced goal of building a hard core for a future western European union, while developing economic cooperation among the 16 Marshall plan nations.

The agreement on mutual military aid referred directly to resistance against "an armed attack on Europe."

The preamble to the treaty reaffirmed the nations' faith in fundamental human rights and the principles of democracy, personal and political liberty and constitutional traditions. It cited the five countries' determination to further economic recovery in western Europe and to assist each other in maintaining peace and resisting "any policy of aggression."

Possessions Not Included

Britain, France, Belgium and The Netherlands all have scattered colonial possessions. Some of the territories even now are troubled by internal dissension and pressures from without. Presumably, the provision for common action would not apply to these.

The treaty was drafted to remain within the scope of the United Nations charter, which permits regional security arrangements. The nations of the western hemisphere operate under such an accord.

Should the need for common action against an attack be invoked, the participating countries would be required to report immediately to the security council of the UN the defensive measures taken.

The treaty said these measures "shall be terminated as soon as the security council has taken the measures necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security."

The treaty forbids the five countries from concluding an alliance or participating "in any coalition" directed against any one of the nations.

The wide scope of its terms was underscored in an article on the purposes of the consultative council. This body will have authority to consult on "any situation that threatens the peace."

Unlike the article which deals with action in the event of "armed attack in Europe," this would permit the council to discuss problems anywhere in the world. It obviously could act on problems arising from aggression other than in the category of "armed attack"—for example, economic, political or propaganda warfare, or support by one nation of internal disruption in another.

The countries agreed that any dispute arising among themselves would be settled in the international court.

EUROPE

secretary-general of the CEEC.

The report said European countries have been able to help one another "in certain directions but in others cooperative progress is closely linked with the availability of external aid."

"Nor is the production picture by any means one of unrelieved gloom," the report said. "In certain important items, for instance coal, iron and steel, wheat sowings etc., in which self help was possible, energetic action has been taken with positive and encouraging results."

Although the conference voted to publish the report at once, general distribution was delayed until a news conference this afternoon when its author was expected to explain it.

The "working party," including experts from all 16 nations, starts work today. These officials will be joined soon by representatives from the British-American and French zones of Germany. The delegates voted yesterday to include Western Germany in the so-called Marshall Plan union.

MARION ENGINEERS PASS STATE EXAM

One Scores 100 Per Cent To Lead His Division.

Three Marion men, four others from nearby communities and one who formerly resided in Marion, recently passed professional engineering examinations given by the state board of registration Jan. 2 and 3 in Columbus, according to an Associated Press dispatch. They were among 299 engineers and surveyors who qualified for registration by passing the examination.

Those from Marion are Robert W Bergmann of 341 Oney avenue, an electrical engineer, who received the highest grade for engineer in training with 100 per cent, and R David Seidel of 156 Homer street and George R Cunitz of 850 South Prospect street, who were given full registration. Both are employed as civil engineers with Floyd G Browne and Associates. John Cherry, who resided in Marion for a time until two weeks ago when he accepted a job in Cleveland, was also given full registration. He had also been employed here with Floyd G Browne and Associates.

Others from cities in the area were: James Shaffer of Kenton, electrical-engineer in training; J. A. Weishampel and W. R. Wright, both of Ada, mechanical—full registration; and J. W. Verger of Kenton, surveying—full registration.

Mr. Bergmann, employed as an electrical engineer at the Marion Power Shovel Co. plant, has completed two years of the four years actual training required after college to be eligible for a professional engineering license. He was graduated from Ohio State university in 1944 with a bachelor of electrical engineering degree. He has been employed with the Shovel Co. one year. Mr Bergmann is a veteran of World War II, having served a year and a half with the U. S. Navy.

A graduate of the University of Illinois in 1931 with a bachelor of science degree, Mr Seidel will receive his license at once. He served three years during World War II as a captain in the sanitary corp attached to the Second Air Corps. He and his wife came here from Chicago about a year and a half ago.

Mr. Cunitz, also a civil engineer, was graduated from the University of Michigan in February, 1947. He also served with the Sanitary Corps of the Air Force during World War II. Mr. Cunitz is married and resides on South Prospect street.

Mr. Cherry, who resided on East Church street here for a time before accepting a position in Cleveland two weeks ago, is a graduate of the University of Florida. He is also a veteran of World War II.

"The world situation is too critical, and the responsibilities of this country are too vast, to permit party struggles to weaken our influence for maintaining peace.

"The American people have the right to assume that political considerations will not affect our working together."

The President's speech was broadcast over all major networks. The state department's "Voice of America" arranged to relay it by short wave in many languages to all the world.

It was broadcast over a loudspeaker system in the Pentagon, headquarters of the national military establishment.

Speaks Tonight

Mr Truman may have more to say about foreign policy in another address tonight. He will speak at a St Patrick's day dinner in New York.

Even before Mr Truman's address, GOP house leaders had pledged in effect that this country would build up its military power, but had said nothing about revising the draft.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass), after a meeting of the GOP house command issued a statement last night saying:

"We must have the strongest Navy on the seas. We must make ourselves absolutely supreme in the air and under the seas."

Martin said "the constant advance of the iron curtain across Europe has created a grave crisis in our international relations." And he added:

"There may be room for some diversity of views and discussion. But on the determination that we will meet it, and meet it promptly, America is united."

Rent Rule Hits Snag in Senate

Hot Fight Between Chambers Seen Over Transfer of Controls to States.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—The home rule rent control bill passed by the house ran head-on into stiff senate opposition today.

A hot fight seemed certain in the conference committee which will have the job of trying to bring the two chambers together to decide who should have final say over rent ceilings.

The present stopgap rent control act expires March 31.

The house chalked up a 251 to 132 vote last night for its bill stripping federal officials of major powers over rents. The measure would transfer to local boards—nominated by the governors of the various states—full and final authority to raise rents or to lift controls completely.

This bill would continue rent controls to April 1, 1949—if the local boards want them.

The senate flatly rejected the home rule amendment, 43 to 25, when it passed its own control legislation last month. The senate bill would continue the federal housing expediter's present review and veto power over local board actions.

The senate bill also would extend controls to May 1, 1949—one month longer than the house measure.

Senator Cain (R-Wash), chairman of the senate banking committee on rents, said immediately after house acted: "I hope we will be able to talk the house out of transferring full powers to the local boards."

Cain said the constitutionality of such a transfer of federal power is doubtful and added: "It would take away every conceivable reason for a national rent law."

OHIO WELFARE AIDE ADDRESSES ROTARY

A. David Bouterse of Columbus Speaks at Luncheon.

A. David Bouterse of Columbus, executive director of the Ohio Welfare Council, was the guest speaker of the Rotary club luncheon yesterday noon at Hotel Harding. During the war, Mr Bouterse served on the staff of General MacArthur. His topic was "Can We Reduce Welfare Costs?"

The speaker stressed the need of citizens to be actively interested and to participate with government officials in the solution of welfare problems.

"We need to administer to welfare program solely on the basis of efficiency and to be active rather than to consider political matters." Mr Bouterse said. "We need to put more money into the solution of people's problems before they get into trouble rather than after they get into trouble."

Mr Bouterse defined welfare problems as being in two groups—the problems of those who cannot make social adjustments and those who need economic assistance. He declared that one of the best ways to look at welfare costs was to think of the good the money is doing rather than exactly where it is going and how much is being spent.

Guests of the club included Miss Vivian Hall and Edwin L. Mitchell, both of Marion, R. N. Shannon of Toledo, M. G. Schoenberger of Upper Sandusky and C. L. Peterson of Bucyrus.

Delores Mann was the student reporter from the journalism class at Harding High school.

MISSING ASHLAND WOMAN LOCATED

Found in Cleveland Looking for New Position.

Mrs Alberta Goddard, 22, who mysteriously disappeared a week ago from Ashland where she had been employed as a dental assistant, is in Cleveland.

News sources there late yesterday reported the former Mt. Gilead resident as saying she was looking for another job and was unaware of the extensive search being made for her by police and family fearing foul play.

Mrs Goddard left Ashland early last Wednesday. Packed suitcases were found in her apartment and her 18 months old son still at a boarding home with money paid in advance for his care.

She is reported as saying she didn't see anything to get excited about. Her baby was being cared for and she was just looking around for another job.

She said she went to Springfield to see her brother and from there to Cleveland where she might go to work for an aunt and uncle in a restaurant.

Ashland police instigated a search for the missing woman Saturday after her employer, Dr. R. F. Kinstle had reported she had not been to work since Tuesday and her mother Mrs. Edith Ritchey of Mt Gilead expressed no knowledge of where her daughter might be.

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 17—Mark A. Hanna, III, great grandson of the late U. S. Sen. Marcus Hanna of Ohio, was the object of an FBI search today.

The FBI obtained warrants here yesterday accusing the 47-year-old Hanna with depositing $60,000 worth of forged checks. Assistant U. S. Attorney Henry W. Killeen, Jr., said Hanna allegedly deposited two $30,000 checks here bearing the forged signatures of an uncle, C. H. Hanna of Cleveland.

The FBI said Hanna was arrested Jan. 31, 1937, in New York City as a Cleveland fugitive, given a suspended sentence for forgery and placed on two years probation.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, ✝ THE HOPE of Glory

Matthew 10:38, 39. "And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after Me, is not worthy of Me. He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for My sake shall find it."

THERE are many today who want to be followers of Christ. They desire the security and peace that Christ gives to the souls of men, but they are not willing to bear the "gossip," persecution, domestic division and self-denial that His discipleship often demands. A cross which entails such as this is obnoxious and offensive to them. Christ says that such ones are "not worthy" of Him.

If one is to be worthy of Christ, he must lose his life. He must lose it for Christ's sake! Selfishness, self-centeredness, self-righteousness, self-interest, just plain "self" must be dethroned and Christ enthroned within the heart. This is the time that one truly finds his life.

Christ is our example. He is the way, the truth, and the life. As He bore a cross, even so must we. "He that loseth his life for Me shall find it."

FRED D. MORGAN, Pastor,
First Church of God.

Steel Firm's Earnings Up $4.78 a Share

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 17—Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., one of the nation's largest steel producers, yesterday reported net income in 1947 of $22,323,591, equal to $8.45 per common share, compared with $10,745,560, or $3.67 per common share, in 1946.

The steel firm, operating at a peacetime record-breaking 95 per cent of capacity, reported an income equal to 5.4 per cent on sales of $350,132,366—the highest dollar volume in the corporation's history.

Wages and salaries paid in 1947, the company said, amounted to $132,968,136, an increase of $29,000,000 over 1946.

The company said it was considered "inadvisable to increase the rate of dividend payable on the common stock, because it was necessary to retain in the business $15,962,747, or nearly 70 per cent of net income, together with $13,193,133 set aside for depreciation and depletion, plus additional funds made available from the sale of bonds, to defray cost of the corporation's plant improvement program."

...party workers are ...the contest between ...and Ray T. Miller of Cleveland for the gubernatorial nomination.

Alleged efforts of some Democratic workers to put a damper on the Lausche-for-Governor meeting were criticized by Lausche and Harry R. Meredith, Allen county Democratic chairman.

Addressed 100

The former governor, addressing approximately 100 persons who attended the meeting, said:

"It hurts to come into a county and find some self-appointed leaders have made phone calls and threatened blacklisting for attendance."

He remarked that such procedure was not in accord with Democratic or American policies of "free" elections and smacked of dictatorship.

Said Chairman Meredith:

"There are those who have challenged my right to represent the party and accord a decent welcome to a former governor and a candidate for governor. I resent and know you must resent this effort to prevent the extending of a deserved welcome."

Friction between Lausche and Durbin developed over patronage when Lausche was governor.

Refers to Friction

Lausche, apparently referring to this, said last night: "Let patronage come as an incident of good government."

Lausche told newsmen prior to the meeting last night that he was opposed "by actual and pseudo political bosses who are unwilling to accept me because they understand that I will not abdicate the powers placed in me by the public and yield them to the hands of the bosses."

He added:

"I am glad to say that the commercial political bosses are not on my side. They have selected a candidate of their own and are now trying to compel the party to accept that candidate whether they want to or not."

Durbin declined to comment on Lausche's statements.

Prior to the meeting Mrs. Sifferd frankly said she did not expect to attend the Lausche meeting.

Counties To Map Fight Against Ohio Tax Setup

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 17—Ohio counties will plot specific steps next month in their battle against a tax problem which they say is threatening them with "bankruptcy."

A subcommittee representing 61 counties yesterday appointed three officials to draw up proposals to be submitted to the meeting in Columbus April 27.

The tax situation developed after the state supreme court recently allowed the Roseville Pottery Co. in Muskingum county to transfer certain properties from a real to a personal property classification.

Real estate is taxed on 100 per cent of valuation; personal property on 50 per cent.

The counties say the decision has resulted in a flood of appeals from corporations seeking to change property to the lighter tax category. Millions of dollars in taxes will be lost if the appeals are granted, they say.

WORK WITH CRIPPLED CHILDREN EXPLAINED

Miss Marian Conley Speaks at Jr. C. of C. Meeting.

Miss Marian Conley English instructor at Harding High school and representative of the Marion County Society for Crippled Children, was speaker at a dinner meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Y.M.C.A.

Miss Conley explained the functions of the society and its plans to aid disabled children and adults in the county.

She then screened a motion picture of crippled children's activities filmed at the Y.M.C.A. camp near Tiffin, where many crippled children from this county attended a 10-day outing last summer sponsored by the crippled children's committee of the Rotary club of Marion.

Miss Conley explained that the funds for these outings for crippled children are largely obtained by the sale of Easter seals, 75 per cent of the proceeds of the seal sales remaining here, she said.

The 20 Jaycees attending the dinner were also informed that Ray Coleman, local safety chairman, has been entered as representative of the local organization, to be considered for an award by the state Jaycee organization, which will be given to the outstanding Jaycee-local safety chairman.

NEW YORK, March 17—Aircrafts led a recovery in the stock market today.

Issues of the plane makers climbed fractions to around 2 points, some to new 1948 highs, on anticipation of increased orders in any rearmament program. Most gains in other sections of the list were limited to a point or so.

Commission houses reported many traders unwilling to make large commitments in advance of President Truman's report to congress on the foreign situation. Although domestic coal and packing house shutdowns remained as a drag on sentiment, it was noted that after Tuesday's drop the market was regarded in position to resist possible bad news.

New highs for the year were reached by Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Grumman, Glenn Martin, Lockheed and Sperry. Other leaders on the rise included Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Standard Oil (N.J.), Phelps Dodge, Eastern Air Lines, Electric Power & Light, Caterpillar Tractor and Montgomery Ward. Lower at times were Owens Illinois and International Harvester.

Admits Shooting In Bus Driver's Death

By The Associated Press

AKRON, March 17—Harper Harris, 38, was held on second degree murder charges today in the fatal shooting of a bus driver during an argument over what door to use for an exit.

Detective Captain John Shenenski said Harris, a Negro, surrendered voluntarily yesterday. Arraigned in municipal court, Harris readily admitted shooting driver Richard Williams, 33, Monday night, Shenenski reported. Another driver, Walter Rennie, 28, riding as a passenger, was shot in the ear. Witnesses said Harris protested when told he could not leave by the front door, but must use the rear exit. Williams was shot twice in the chest.

Golden Gloves Semifinals Tonight Feature 20 to 25 Bouts

Fighters Won't Be Matched Until Ring Time at 8 O'Clock

By BILL MURPHY

Action in the semifinals tonight at the Armory in the second day of Golden Gloves competition will feature 20 to 25 bouts.

Matches, as on Monday, will be made between 6 p. m. and ringtime. Fights start at 8 p. m.

All 26 winners in the opening round will be eligible for matches. But in divisions where there is a shortage of contenders, some fighters will receive a gratis trip to the finals through lack of competition. In other classes where there is an abundance of material, boxers may be required to fight twice in one night to hasten elimination. If on Friday night all competition has been exhausted, the lone survivor in any class will automatically be pushed into the state matches.

State Finals at Toledo

The state finals will be held in the new sports arena at Toledo this year, not in Columbus as was previously stated. Eight boxers, one from each weight, will make the trip.

Winners in the A.A.U. bracket on Monday who will be trying for second wins tonight are Ernie Arcuri of Marion and Charles Farina of Galion, middleweights; Jack Sekinger, Harold Waits, Buck Rogers, all of Marion, and Dick Shockley of Galion, welterweights; Howard Kochersie of Galion, Joe Neidig of Byhalia, and Carroll Combs, lightweights; Richard James and Wilbur Middleton of Marion, Lowell Price and Marion Wirick of Galion and Don Maples of Ashley, featherweights; Kenny Chevalier and Alfred Doss of Marion, bantamweights; and Robert Millington of Richwood, flyweight.

Paperweights Won't Return

Paperweight winners do not return unless they are needed to fill a schedule.

Delaware contenders, champions in seven of eight divisions last year, may enter seven boys in the semifinals, Joe Yannitell, chairman of the Y's Men's club said. They failed to arrive at the Armory in time to sign for the first round fights Monday, he said.

Ticket sales for tonight's program are booming, and a full house is anticipated.

ST. LOUIS AND N.Y.U. TO MEET IN FINALS TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 17—St. Louis university and New York university battle this St. Patrick's night in the National Invitation Basketball tourney finals.

At stake will be a place in the Olympic trials, and with the oddsmakers calling it even-up, it looks like the "luck of the Irish" might determine the winner.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (Park Arena)—Ross Anzalone, 143¾, New York, outpointed Joey Carkido, 140¾, Youngstown, 8.

CLEVELAND—Steve Belloise, 160, New York, stopped Irish Mickey Doyle, 158, Cleveland, 7.

Irish Wrestler Meets Irish Wrestler Thursday

Two wrestlers as Irish as Paddy's Pig" are signed for one of the main events Thursday night at the Armory, and when two, Irishmen, especially wrestlers get together and have an argument something is bound to happen. And it's just about what will happen Thursday night when Red Lyons and Jack Kelley get together in one of the 90 minute matches. Both these men have been disqualified in their matches with Farmer Jones and the referee Thursday will be instructed to let them go as one is as rough as the other.

Many of the Marion fans like good, fast, clean matches and that is what is expected in the other main event when Bill Murray and Bill Sledge lock horns. Sledge is a newcomer to Marion. His home is Texas where he is rated with the best and on top of that was one of the best football players turned out in the Lone Star state. Both matches are packed with action and are for the best two out of three falls.

The ten minute prelim will be a return match between Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse. Mickey didn't like the idea of the quick fall scored on him and wants a return. Prelim starts at 8:30. Prices 50c-75c-$1.00. Call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store for seats.—Adv.

Training Camp Notes

By The United Press

BRADENTON, Fla., March 17—Manager Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves, who has been bedded down for the last two days with a heavy cold, hoped to get back into action today.

Southworth developed a fever Monday night and turned over the temporary control of the team to coach Fred Fitzsimmons.

The Braves beat the Detroit Tigers yesterday, 4 to 3, in 14 innings at Lakeland, the payoff run coming on singles by Dan Litwhiler, Tommy Holmes and Frank Herr. The pitching of Virgil Trucks continued to stand out for the Tigers—he has given only four hits and no runs in 14 innings this spring.

* * *

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17—The New York Yankees today announced they had floated a $1,600,000 loan for "expansion programs and properly improvements of Yankee stadium and throughout the entire system of Yankee-owned ball clubs."

St. Louis' Cardinals outpitched and outhit the Yanks yesterday for a 4 to 1 triumph. That snapped the New Yorkers' seven-game winning streak. The Cards pounced on pitcher Spud Chandler, making his first appearance for three runs and six hits in three innings. St. Louis made a total of 14 hits, one a homer by Don Lang, and New York made seven.

* * *

STOCKTON, Calif., March 17—The Cleveland Indians will tangle with the Chicago Cubs, hottest team on the west coast, in an exhibition game today.

The Indians' game against Oakland yesterday was rained out. The Cubs have won eight games and lost two in training.

* * *

TAMPA, Fla., March 17—The Cincinnati Reds smashed 16 hits yesterday to beat the Washington Senators 9 to 2, and all their runs were scored against Senator ace Early Wynn.

Six of the runs Wynn yielded came in the third inning. Howard Fox and Kent Peterson, meanwhile, held the Washington batsmen in check with Fox getting credit for the victory.

* * *

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 17—The New York Giants appeared today to have lost none of the home-run power that created a new National league record last year.

Homers by Jack Lohrke and Bob Thomson, both off Kirby Higbe, gave the Giants a 5 to 2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday. The Pirates got some consolation from a good performance by rookie pitcher Bob Chesnes, who made his debut by holding the Giants to one run and two hits in three innings.

* * *

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D. R. March 17—Hugh Casey the old reliable fireman, and Rex Barney, the young fireballer, today appeared well-advanced in training at the Brooklyn Dodgers camp.

In the Dodgers' 13 to 4 victory over their Montreal Royal farm hands yesterday, Casey gave up only one single in three innings and Barney was equally impressive, although an error enabled the Royals to reach him for two runs.

LATEST newcomer to the Marion Cub fold—the thirty-first—is southpaw pitcher Simon A. Pavkov of Akron, whose contract was signed yesterday by W. Dexter Hazen, Marion Baseball club president . . . Pavkov, who graduated from Akron's East High school last spring, stands six-one and weighs 168 . . . He bats right-handed . . . He and the 30 other Marion Cubs will report here April 5 for spring training.

* * *

RONNY HENDERSON, who pitched for the Columbus Redbird rookies against the vets in the spring training opener Sunday, is one of several former players for the Marion Cubs (then the Cards) at the St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp . . . Besides Henderson, who was here in 1946 and who lives in Marion in the off season, there are Bob Munr, a southpaw pitcher Walter Lammers, third base, Charley Frey, left field, and pitcher John Griggs, all with Rochester.

* * *

DON CARLSEN, who started his baseball career with the local Cubs in 1944, has been working an inning or so for the parent Chicago Cubs every day or two this past week . . . Don played shortstop here, but was converted into a pitcher when he was with Los Angeles and Tulsa last year . . . One of the best athletes ever to wear the local club's uniform, Don also possessed one of the finest characters . . . He once told the club's batboy, a lad of 12 who naturally was exposed to a style of language and use of vocabulary not generally thought befitting for a youngster, that "you'll hear a lot of cussing on the bench, but just you forget it." . . . That batboy has since become a promising Harding High school gridder and cager, by the way, and is none other than Dick Leffler, who quarterbacked the Prexy's football powerhouse and played on the varsity basketball squad this year as a sophomore.

ILLINOIS PLACES BAN ON BOXING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 17—Repercussions of the ring death in Chicago last month of Sam Baroudi were capped today by suspension of professional boxing in Illinois for 23 days.

The shutdown was asked by Gov. Dwight H. Green yesterday and Commission Chairman Sheldon Clark said the request was accepted in "complete accord." The commission will meet tomorrow to act formally on the matter.

"The 23-day suspension will give us time to put into effect methods of tightening up the boxing code," said Clark.

The move climaxes criticism of pro boxing stemming from the death on Feb. 21 of Baroudi, 20-year-old Akron, O., boxer, after his 10th round knockout by Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati.

The ban will be lifted April 7, date of the Chicago stadium benefit to raise $10,000 for Baroudi's parents. The bout will be between Charles and Elmer (Violent) Ray of Minneapolis.

Matinee Club May Take Over Marion Racing from Trotting Association

The possibility of the Matinee club of Marion taking over the racing at the Marion track this summer became apparent when that organization requested the State Racing Commission yesterday for the July 3 to 24 meeting if the Marion Trotting association gave up plans to hold the meet.

Frank Foster, president of the Marion Trotting association, said today that a meeting of the association will be held to decide whether to abandon plans to hold the annual harness racing session. He would not say what reason the association had for considering abandonment.

The Ohio Racing commission said that in the event the local Trotting association gives up plans to hold the races, the Matinee club, headed by Dr. J. G. McNamara, would be awarded the dates.

The state commission yesterday approved an order barring children 16 years or younger from race tracks. County fair tracks were excepted.

Commission Chairman O. C. Belt told newsmen the regulation was adopted at the request of the race tracks. It's effective this season.

As expected, the commission also adopted an amended order requiring tracks three-quarters of a mile and up to install totalizators for pari-mutuel betting.

Beulah Park spokesmen indicated to the commission that the Grove City track would seek a court test of the totalizator requirement. The park was denied spring meeting dates at an earlier meeting because it had taken no action to install totes. Track spokesmen said yesterday the park was not able to buy totes on "fair terms."

TAMPA, Fla., March 17 — A spring trip to Florida is supposed to produce information on sports to serve as background through the entire season, but these are the kind of things you remember most sharply when it comes time to go home:

The first blast of Miami's tropical sun on a new arrival from the north.

The sudden breath-taking beauty of the Hialeah race course when you first turn into it from the flat, scrubby country and shacks that surround it.

The equally breath-taking prices at some Miami spots and the indignation of Miami Beach hotel men over a story that they planned to reduce those prices.

The sight of moonlight over Biscayne Bay and the soft night air blowing in your face as you ride across the causeway. And the sudden, uncomfortable thought that you have to get up early to work when you don't ever want to go to bed.

A glimpse of Coaltown speeding down the homestretch to equal the Hialeah track record in his second race.

The tawdry road houses along the highway north of Miami that turn out to be expensive gambling spots.

The Athletics kibbitzing on one another's card games and shouting criticisms across the courtyard in their hotel. Connie Mack, garbed in a dark suit and high stiff collar sitting erectly on a folding chair beside the practice field. He probably is the only northerner not sneered at by Floridians because he owns a hat.

Al Snider booting Citation through a gap in the Flamingo race. The shock a couple of weeks later when you read of Snider's disappearance on a fishing trip.

Babe Ruth autographing baseballs for charity in a Miami night club when he looked as if he ought to be home in bed.

The same Babe Ruth, tanned and looking healthier than you've seen him in a couple of years, still autographing baseballs.

The cordiality of such right guys as Everett Clay, Pete Norton and Eddie Dyer.

Joe DiMaggio constantly meeting his public.

The baseball writers' bull sessions at the corner table in a Tampa hotel, where the tallest, most incredible stories are the true ones.

The announcer at the Tampa dog track shouting "There goes Rusty" when the mechanical rabbit begin to move.

The view from the roof of a Clearwater hotel.

And a thousand and one other things—.

It's St. Patrick's Day, So Irish Open Training

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 17—This being St. Patrick's day, the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame appropriately opened spring football drills.

Among the wearers of the green were, shamrocks like Mike Swiestowicz, Red Sitko, John Panelli, Frank Tripucka and others.

Coach Frank Leahy, surrounded by nearly 150 big bruisers, refrained from being too optimistic about Notre Dame's 1948 chances. Twenty-five lettermen swarmed around the coach, smiling and playfully pawing each other for benefit of the press photographers.

Leahy conceded that Notre Dame will be able to field a team next fall, although he lost 12 monogram winners by graduation.

"But I'm afraid we'll take some bad beatings," he added jovially.

Notre Dame won only nine games last year. That's all it played. They have 10 scheduled for 1948. Leahy would be the last to admit it, but if the Fighting Irish are successful in their opener, against Purdue, they might easily press on to another undefeated season.

If you don't listen to Leahy, you might get the idea Notre Dame will have another good team.

HERMAN HICKMAN NAMED YALE COACH

By The Associated Press

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 17—Herman Hickman, "the Little Giant," from Tennessee, is Yale's new head football coach.

Ending a long search for a successor to Howie Odell, Robert J. H. (Bob) Kiphuth, Eli director of athletics, announced Hickman's appointment late yesterday. Odell resigned in January to become head coach at the University of Washington.

The massive Hickman, who gained his nickname because of his avoirdupois, thus departs from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point to undertake his first assignment as a head coach. He has been line coach at West Point, under Col. Earl Blaik, since 1943. He helped develop Army's strong forward walls that cleared many a path for backfield stars Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard to romp to fame.

Prior to going to West Point, the massive Hickman served as line coach at Wake Forest and at North Carolina State. In 1943 he was chief aide and head line coach to Col. Bob Neyland, who directed the U. S. Army all-star team which trained on the Yale campus for three wartime benefit games.

Kiphuth, in making the announcement, said Hickman's appointment was for a term of three years. He said the new coach would arrive at New Haven in time to take charge of Yale's Spring practice. Head coaches at Yale are not given contracts, a university spokesman explained, but receive appointments corresponding to those tendered professors.

No mention of salary terms was made nor would university officials comment on financial details. The new coach is expected to appoint his own aides.

Some occupations are particularly apt to develop faulty vision; 75 per cent of all U.S. garment workers have vision trouble.

Voting Deadlock Brings Forth Six-Man All Ohio Cage Team

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 17—A voting deadlock between centers Bob Brown of Miami and Eppa Rixey of Kenyon today forced The Associated Press to select, for the first time, a six-man all-Ohio college basket ball team.

The two rangy pivot men, each six feet six inches tall, led the balloting among stars from 40 Buckeye colleges, and were named co-captains of the 1948 honorary club.

The all-star sextet was unusual, too, in that every man except Brown made the big jump to the varsity all the way from last year's honorable mention list.

Paired at forwards on the varsity were Dick Shrider of Ohio U., and Earl Shaw of Wooster, while the guards are Dal Zuber of Toledo and Leo Kubiak of Bowling Green.

Shrider and Kubiak are seniors, Shaw a sophomore, and the others are juniors. Another pair of voting deadlock showed up on the third team, necessitating selection of three forwards and three guards. Charles Buttermore of Ohio Wesleyan and Gene Fellmuth, members of last year's first team, figure in these ties.

The Associated Press acted only as vote-counter in making the selections, the coaches and sports writers balloting for full first and second teams. Individual playing ability alone was the basis of the voting, and Wooster, Kenyon and Toledo of the Ohio conference, unattached Bowling Green, and Mid-American conference members Miami and Ohio U. grabbed the plums.

Five points were awarded for a first team berth, and three for second.

Here are the all-stars, with the vote totals in parentheses:

All-Ohio College Basketball Squad

		P.	G.	Pts.
D. Shrider, Ohio U. (66)	F	19		308
Earl Shaw, Wooster (63)	F	18		329
R. Brown, Miami (68)	C	27		436
E. Rixey, Kenyon (68)	C	22		550
Dal Zuber, Toledo (67)	G.	22		301
L. Kubiak, B. G'n ((61)	G	29		224

SECOND TEAM: forwards, Charles Harmon, Toledo; Ed Hrivnak, Baldwin Wallace; center, Charles Share, Bowling Green; guards, Bob Alston, Xavier, Art Morthorst, Xavier.

THIRD TEAM: forwards, Chris Boxwell, Xavier, Gene Fellmuth, Wittenberg, Hank Vaugn, Akron; center, Mac Otten, Bowling Green; guards, Charles Buttermore, Ohio Wesleyan, Paul Schnackenberg, Miami, and Dick Dallmer, Cincinnati.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

FRANK BUCK, born March 17, 1884, once wrote a book "Bring 'Em Back Alive." The title has since become virtually an adjunct to his name. He is author of a number of other books based on his adventures as wild animal collector. His work as supply man for zoos, circuses, scientists and others has expanded into radio and films. A seventh grade schooling has since been supplemented by broad private study.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

A group of tailors have picked General Eisenhower as the best-dressed man in civilian life but he should be. . . . He's got one of the newest suits.

* * *

Anyway these boys just haven't seen Admiral Bill Halsey in civvies. . . . They tell me his sports jackets would have brought surrender as quickly as the atom bomb.

* * *

When Admiral Bill visited Bethlehem Steel plant they gave him a pair of dark glasses so he could look at a blast furnace. . . . Then the furnace men put on their dark glasses so they could look at him.

* * *

All I know is that I was with him and on my next visit to my eye doctor he said "I can see that you've been staring into the sun."

* * *

But it's nice to know that Ike has a good job and a good tailor. . . . And he must have a good advisor or he'd be out there throwing his best scoop hat into the ring.

OH-OH!
